University Of Maine At Farmington

Office of Financial Aid

RIGHT TO KNOW –
CHEMICAL HAZARD COMMUNICATION TRAINING RECORD

As an employee of the University of Maine at Farmington, you have a RIGHT TO KNOW about the proper handling of chemicals in the workplace. Your signature on this form means that you have received information on the following:

- Provisions of the Maine Chemical Substance I.D. Law
- Physical/health hazards of chemicals in the workplace
- Proper procedures where hazardous chemicals are present
- How to detect the presence or release of hazardous chemicals
- Location of the written hazard communication program
- How to protect yourself from hazards
- Labeling systems and material safety data sheets
- Emergency procedures

Name_____ Job Title or Rank_____

Social Security Number_____ Work Area/Dept_____

Check One: _____ Professional/Faculty _____ Graduate Assistant

_____ Classified Employee _____ Student Worker

_____ Other _____
Explain

Have you had previous training on this subject at the University? _____ Yes _____ No

_____ _____
Student's Signature Date

_____ _____
Mantor Library Signature Date

Copy to employee's personnel file; original to Campus Chemical Information Coordinator.

OHR 7/88 Check if Level II _____